

[Faith & Works - Living Our Calling Before God] : Rev. John Hwang

과목 소개 Course Description :

This course explores how the Christian life integrates faith and everyday work through a biblical theology of vocation. Rooted in God's sovereignty and grace, we will examine how believers are called to serve Christ in all areas of life, including labor, family, public life, and the church, while resting in the sufficiency of Christ's finished work. Through Scripture, participants will grow in their understanding of calling, discover how God works through them, and find renewed purpose in both work and rest.

과목 목적 Course Objectives:

- 1) To equip believers with a biblical theology of vocation by showing how God's providence, grace, and glory shape all of life, including work, family, citizenship, and church service.
- 2) To help participants faithfully live out their callings in every sphere of life by integrating faith with daily work, discerning personal vocation, and finding rest in Christ's finished work.

기간 Time:

October 7 - November 25, every Tuesday (7 pm - 8:30 pm)

교재 Textbook Required: Bible

과제 Assignments

Select one domain of life such as work, family, civic engagement, or church participation, and compose a one-page theological reflection on how Christian faith informs and transforms your engagement within that sphere. Your reflection should include a relevant passage of Scripture, a meaningful insight from course material, and a brief application highlighting how this perspective could reframe your actions or attitudes in that context.
